

Josh & Josh are Rich and Famous

April 22, 2008

Josh & Josh Interview Mario Lopez

Josh and I recently interviewed Mario Lopez for Towleroad TV as he prepared to make his debut in A Chorus Line on Broadway as Zach, the show-within-a-show's director. Mario talked about his Broadway debut, his new fitness book (try not to drop your jaw when you see the cover), A.C. Slater, and his supportive gay fans. The bonus? We got to stay during a rehearsal and catch some of his moves from the show. Check it out.

08:17 PM in Interview, Video Interview | Permalink

Comments

Wow, you really got good quick with editing, Josh K. The interview looks great.

Posted by: Will | April 23, 2008 at 08:54 AM

Hullo!

I just thought I'd drop a note to let you guys know how much I enjoy your writing. I'm a newcomer to the blog and have spent the last 24 hours going through your archives. What I love most about your blog is the immense sense of hope and optimism I glean from your adventures. All the best and keep writing! (and dreaming and hoping and daring!)

Posted by: ldub | April 23, 2008 at 08:54 AM

Awesome job guys! It looks great!

Posted by: Chad | April 23, 2008 at 04:55 PM

Mario is one guy that get's hotter with age! I certainly didn't have anything for him when he was AC Slater but even the straight girls agree that Mario has definitely improved with age!

Posted by: Shannon | April 23, 2008 at 09:18 PM